THE GREATER HUSTLER

It is barely seven months since the Cayley Hustler was born into this world, a small six page monthly paper. Its fourth issue contained eight pages and published weekly, the first two weeks of June have contained ten pages. Now we see it in its present form. At first it was only an experiment and the editor often feared that he would not be able to live up to his agreement with his subscribers that is, he feared whether he could give them a monthly paper for a year. But to-day he has no such fear. The Cayley Hustler is on a good financial basis and supported by a local loyalty that can be hardly surpassed by any other village or town. We are proud of the Cayley Hustler and its record, but we are more proud of the loyal citizens who by their enterprise and push have made it what it is; for it is a town paper, indeed.

But remember, we have not come to that place where our loyalty and zeal are to cease. Our aim is not to have a newspaper as good or better as any other, but it is for us to make it the BEST PAPER that we possibly can. This means, that you and everyone else in the town and district must do their part.

How to help—subscribe, advertise, and talk it up to others. Don't be a knocker. Any fool can find fault. Be a helper.

Free Trade Britain

It is an interesting fact that probably at this moment no country in the world is enjoying such all-round prosperity as the one great centre of Free Trade, says the Nation. Everywhere in Great Britain is heard the hum of profitable industry. In the United States the recovery from the crisis of 1907 has met with a check, and the vested interests are puzzled and alarmed by the popular movement against the tariff, the trusts and the Republican party. Germany is busy but poor, and the empire's public finance is approaching another huge deficit and another call for fresh loans and taxes. But here we see in manufactures, commerce, and finance the utmost buoyancy of sentiment as well as perfect security and soundness in the underlying conditions. The talk about the insecurity of capital was merely engineering, and it has vanished because politics have given way to the prior claims of money-making. Our own industries never followed those of America into the depths of 1908. But there was a serious increase of unemployment, and a great depression in the building and ship-building trades. This depression has now passed away, and we hear of many cases in which the demand for employables largely exceeds the supply.

Of the British navy the present personnel is 128,000 men. This is far more than the total for any other two countries. There are now 223 British ships fully manned and ready for action and 248 on a peace-footing, partially manned but ready at short notice. Lord Charles Bessborough, however, urges an immediate entry of 10,000 additional men.

Camp Notes

The soldier boys appreciated the V. M. C. A. tent that was erected in the camp.

The High River and Cayley boys who made up C. squadron of the 13th Light Horse arrived safely home on Saturday.

The Calgary Militia Camp was a dry one in more ways than one. Hard lines when a military camp of 1200 men cannot have a band. Soldiering without music is like a man running a wagon without oil.

General Sir John French was the honored guest of the Militia Camp in Calgary on Friday, June 24th. General French is without a doubt England's greatest cavalry officer, if not one of the best to be found in the world. Yet when he visited the City of Calgary, that wonderful up-to-date city, he did not receive as warm a welcome that a monied speculator would have received. Not even a Union Jack was to be seen. Shame, Calgary! Wake up!

The military camp at Calgary broke up on Saturday, June 25th. The beautiful white canvas city which adorned the heights just west of the Industrial School, which is situated on the Bow River, south-east of Calgary, vanished in a few hours. By 11 a.m. the whole 1200 men and horses were speeding to their homes.

Some looking forward to come back again next year, but the majority of "raw" recruits quite sick of it all, and "no more soldiering for them." But it will be surprising how they will catch the fever next year.

A number of Major Broderick's company of territorials have announced that they wish to go to Winnipeg, and after manoeuvres there they intend to join similar Dominion forces.

Seven years ago Mr. Buschwein, a large land owner at Valley City, North Dakota, bought a section of land on Willow Creek for $5 an acre, and he has come up to investigate his purchase. Finding that it is now worth $35 an acre, he has engaged a force of men who are busy fencing the section, and breaking operations are to be commenced when conditions will permit.

A distressing accident befel the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goughly of High River one day last week. Mrs. Goughly had just filled a tub with boiling water, and hearing a knock at the door she set the tub down on the floor and went to the door. In the meantime her little daughter came to the room and fell backward into the boiling water, being badly scalded.

Capt. Mikeberg, late of the Norwegian merchant marine, who is visiting in Alberta, is to make an effort to divert Scandinavian immigration from the United States into Alberta. As a first step he is translating all official handbooks of the district and sending them back to the Old Country for distribution. He will later make a trip back to give lectures on Western Canada. He says Alberta has just the right sort of climate for his fellow countrymen. There are from fifteen to twenty thousand Scandinavians coming to the United States every year, and he thinks he can divert the majority of these to Alberta.

Wedding bells are ringing these days. Mr. Herman Barnes and Miss Alva Stevens were married last week. Miss Maude Robertson, daughter of Mr. Geo. Robertson, was also married at Meadowbrook.

The crop outlook is far better this week than last. Considerable rain fell on Sunday and Monday of last week and some hail. It practically saved the crops, for they could not have stood the drought much longer.

There were 30,554,200 acres in crops in Canada at the 1st of June. The increase over last year was 2,359,300, and over 1900, 4,951,050 acres. Alberta has a record of 150,000 acres more than last year in oats alone.

The Edmonton papers say that the crops in the South are a failure. Well, we only hope that things are looking as good up North as they are around Cayley. We leave Edmonton to report their own crops, as they know better than we do what they are like. May they do likewise in the future.

Mr. Bradley, Cayley's harness maker, bought the two lots on the corner of Railway Ave. and Olsen St. Since buying he has sold the corner lot to Mr. Fred Scragg, the latter is having stones hauled for a foundation of a post office building which he expects to erect at once.

"I am going to sow two hundred acres to fall wheat this year," remarked a successful farmer on Tuesday. "You know I go a great deal on the fact that we have had several bad years for winter wheat and it 'invariable follows that a corking good season follows several bad ones. At any rate, I am going strong on fall wheat, for after all there is nothing like fall wheat to bring in returns. If it is winter killed, then I can resort to spring wheat or oats, and I will not be much of a loser."

Almost a million women in the United States are either farmers or farm workers. Thanks to the popularity of the homestead in the west and to a belated appreciation of agriculture as a field for woman's industry, this number is rapidly increasing. The United States, however, has not gone so far in this respect as England. There, in the dairy sections, women have entire control of the herds. In France nearly 3,000,000 women are engaged in farm work.

Sudden Death of a Cayley Young Woman

It was with sadness that we learnt of the sudden death of Mrs. D. Charlton, who died at her husband's farm, six miles east of Cayley, on Thursday afternoon. The deceased was walking out of the house with her baby in her arms, when she suddenly fell and when a friend ran to aid her she found her dead. Mrs. Charlton was only 19 years old, and leaves a husband and a little babe to mourn her loss. On account of the suddenness of her death it was thought wise to hold a coroner's inquest. This was held on Saturday, June 25th, but was postponed until Wednesday, June 29th.

0004c a share is the present value of the wireless.

Some skeptics have doubted the weight of that 540 lb. hog marketed by Mr. C. Grier. The P. Burns & Co. bought it at the market price and their cheque, at the bank, is good evidence.

A truthful and very conservative opinion of crop conditions in Alberta is that in certain parts of the province the grain will be light, but that the average crop will not be much less than last year, which was a very good year. The crops will be light in districts where there has been a succession of very excellent crops. It is further certain that crops are not very bad in any district where the farming has been done well.
